

So, you've decided you want a rabbit?

THAT'S GREAT! Rabbits are awesome!

Brought to you by the Toronto Rabbit Cooperative torontorabbits.org

Finding the Bunny ◀

Please consider adopting your bunny from an animal shelter or rescue group. It's true that rabbits are easy to find at pet stores and from breeders, but there is a rabbit overpopulation crisis in Ontario because the shelters that take rabbits are full, and the rescue groups that have sprung up in response to this problem are also full. This is not a new problem that will soon go away. Please do what you can to help!

ANIMAL SHELTERS

Most shelters in Ontario post their animals that are up for adoption on petfinder.com and/or petango.com.

RESCUE ORGANIZATIONS

- Rabbit Rescue Inc. (Toronto to London areas) rabbitrescue.ca
- Kingston Animal Rescue kingstonanimalrescue.com
- New Moon Rabbit Rescue (Ottawa area) newmoonrabbitrescue.ca

Preparing for the Bunny

Before you bring home the bunny you should do all your research, buy all your supplies, and completely prepare your rabbit's home. Download a rabbit checklist and a rabbit finances calculator from the Toronto Rabbit Cooperative website! torontorabbits.org/about-rabbits

Taking Care of the Bunny

Pet rabbit care and behaviour is widely misunderstood, so make sure you research carefully! For more reliable websites, visit delicious.com/torontorabbits.

The basic scoop! RABBIT PRIMER

The Toronto Humane Society
torontohumanesociety.com/petcare_sm_mam.htm#rabbits

For questions and discussion! RABBIT FORUMS rabbitsonline.net Rabbits Online •

bio.miami.edu/hare/etherbun.html Etherbun •

RABBIT REFERENCE

Where to go for more info!

- House Rabbit Society rabbit.org
- H.A.R.E. Rabbit Health Central bio.miami.edu/hare/rabbithealth.html
- MediRabbit medirabbit.com
- Bunnyhugga bunnyhugga.com
- The Rabbit House: A Guide to Rabbit Housing therabbithouse.com
- The Language of Lagomorphs: What Your Rabbit is Saying and How to Speak Back language.rabbitspeak.com